

Letter of Recommendation for Applicants to Study Program Q+

Note for Insstructors:

Q+ is a challenging, flexible, interdisciplinary program that supplements regular Bachelor's and Master's studies at JGU Mainz. It is designed to give motivated and capable students a chance to look beyond the limits of their disciplines, follow their interests, and broaden their academic horizons. To that end, Q+ offers access to a wide range of courses from different disciplines, as well as unique courses, projects, internships, and field trips. The program also offers personal academic advising to facilitate academic success and career entry.

The selection committee considers each application based on its individual merits, and letters of recommendation form an important part of the documents on which the committee's decision is based. However, a letter of recommendation is not a required part of the application. The Q+ program expresses its gratitude to all instructors and researchers who support the selection process with their recommendations.
